Thriving Church....Thriving Community

www.etchurch.co.nz

Elaine Scurr

In early December the Mission Facilities Work Group wrote to you about the proposed development of additional facilities around our existing buildings and the strengthening of our historic church. We received three written submissions and as a group had a large number of personal conversations with church folk. The written submissions were constructive and positive.

The conversations were likewise positive.

We have decided that we also need to consider how we best use all of the resources we have. The pioneers sited the church wisely and surrounded it with paddocks for the minister's horse and no doubt for the steeds of those at worship. Is it wise to sit on this resource without considering how it can be used to serve our community and congregations in the future?

The Mission Facilities Work Group will continue to work together and will at times consult with members of our congregations and our neighbouring community. We may also need to hire expert advice. We fully realise that we are starting a journey that could lead to significant changes with steep challenges. Please pray for our work group as we continue on this journey - for our various conversations and wise knowledgeable and God-led decisions.
